Harmony and Discord

Every school year is full of good things and bad things, pros and cons, harmony and discord. The year of 1993 was no exception. Students witnessed the depletion of their school as they knew it, when the colors and mascot were taken away; they watched the changing of the guard, as a new president of the United States took office; and they felt the harsh realities of the growing violence in this country, as students at our own school became victims of shootings and gang fights. Through all of this, feelings must certainly be mixed and opinions probably do not meet, but the students of Hinton High School continue on together through harmony and discord.

Since the students are required to stay on campus during lunch, the central playground has become a big part of the student life. All three lunch periods use it all year long, as a place to socialize and relax during the day. Couples cuddle in the corners and occasionally a fight will break out among disconcerted students. The central playground, with all of its activity, sees its share of harmony and discord.

STUDENT LIFE

Triumph Trapped in Controversy

Throughout the year, one of the biggest topics of conversation was about the Summers County Board of Education's decision to change the colors and mascot when students were moved to a new comprehensive high school in the fall of 1994. Although a number of peoople were pleased with this decision and were in favor of change, others became outraged, and therefore, in obtaining the funds for a new school, Summers County also had a gigantic controversy on its hands.

Students who were "orange and black supporters" conducted walkouts, hung signs in the halls and on their lockers, and protested the changing of the colors and mascot at board meetings, often speaking for hours on reasons why orange and black and the Bobcats mascot should not be changed.

Petitions were started and Bobcat supporters held meetings. A 60-day cooling off period was put into order by the board, so everything could boil over.

Eventually, students representing Talcott and Hinton were called on to select color combinations and mascots for students to vote on.

The issue was taken to the state capital, passed the House and Senate, and was taken to the Govenor. It was made a law that students could vote on any color combinations and mascot they wanted to.

Students in grades 7-10 from Talcott and Hinton voted and the victor was orange and black as the colors and the Bobcat as the mascot. It looks like the more things change, the more they stay the same.

History Repeats Itself

The Lady Cats captured the Class AA championship crown, after defeating three highly ranked girls basketball teams, and proved once again that Summers County girls basketball is the best in the state.

To earn a trip to the state tournament in Charleston, the Lady Cats practiced and played not only for the three months of the regular season, but year 'round.

"The big reason why we were successful was because the girls worked year 'round," says Coach Ron Williams.

The Lady Bobcats did not have any one standout superstar that led the way to states, but instead had a team full of enthusiastic, hard-working, very talented basketball players.

"My biggest concern when the season started was that there were many outstanding basketball players and I didn' t know if they could accept their roles or not. About midway through the season, I realized the girls could and it made me feel good," states Williams.

With much pressure put upon them to return to Charleston for the state tournament, the Lady Cats more than fulfilled most people's wishes. The Cats showed everyone that devotion, commitment, and a team effort made them the best at what they do, and proved that by bringing home a State Championship Trophy!

"I've worn the same blue ponytail holder for good luck since I started playing varsity basketball, even though Coach Ryan doesn't think it's too color-coordinated."
Senior Kristen Keaton

"Ever since I became a Lady Bobcat, we've said the Lord's prayer before every game, and with the Lord's help, we won states."
Senior Celena Angell

" You'd better look out when Coach Williams is doing the jig up and down the sidelines!"
Senior Kim Robertson

"Coach Williams kept the ball off of a broken second-place trophy for good luck until we won states."

Keaton Showered with Royalties

Kristen Keaton was crowned 1992 Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies held at the October 16 Hinton-Richwood game. Hinton was not as lucky as Kristen, for Richwood lumbered away with the victory.

Kristen, along with her four attendants, braved the windy and rainy night, and made it a night to remember. Kristen says, "It was a real surprise, and I was excited to be recognized as Homecoming Queen."

By Kristen's side were senior attendants Lori Willey, escorted by her father Steve Willey, and Lori Harper, escorted by her father Jimmy Harper.

Junior attendant was Stella Harvey, escorted by her father, Jack Harvey and sophomore attendant was Shannon Richman, escorted by her father Dr. Steve Richman.

The Junior Homecoming Queen crown was passed on to Rebecca Dillon during halftime ceremonies of the Hinton Junior High and Talcott game on October 8.

Hinton was victorious, defeating Talcott 41-8.

After being crowned, Rebecca said, "I feel honored about being queen and very happy that I was chosen to represent the junior high."

Serving on the Junior High Homecoming Court were Queen Rebecca Dillon, freshman attendants Megan Cole and Stacy Turner, eighth grade attendant Shawna Carter and seventh grade attendant Brooke Blankenship.

Miss Bobcat tradition continues...

Anderson takes crown

Susan Anderson was crowned Miss Bobcat 1992 by Mrs. Rita Pack, Miss Bobcat 1967, on October 23 during halftime ceremonies of the Hinton and Shady Spring game.

"I was really shocked to find out I was Miss Bobcat. It gave me a good feeling of acceptance, " says Susan, who was sponsored by the Senior High National Honor Society.

Serving as Miss Bobcat attendants were Cynthia Bennett, sponsored by FBLA, Renee Livesay, sponsored by Food Service and Alissa Pullen, sponsored by Tri-Hi-Y.

Miss Bobcat attendants are sponsored by school organizations, clubs, and individual classes and are then chosen by students in grades 10-12.

Gill honored as second Miss Bobkitten

Left: The first Miss Bobkitten, Alison Steele, carries on the tradition by passing on the crown to Susie Gill.

Freshman Susie Gill was crowned Miss Bobkitten during halftime ceremonies of the Hinton and Rainelle game on January 30.

"I was surprised I had so many friends," said Susie after being honored as Miss Bobkitten.

Freshman attendants were Lindsay Keaton, Stephanie Meadows, and Mika Meadows. Eighth grade attendantswere Shannan Payne and Krista Goins. Seventh grade attendants were Rachel Pack and Tiffany Burroughs.

Miss Bobkitten, which began last year, is coordinated by eighth grade teacher, Debbie Cantrell. She believes the junior high should be more involved in school activities. She says, "I feel the junior high being involved in the school is a good positive move. They've always been left out before like they didn't count for anything."

Much planning must be done to pull off the event. Cantrell states,"Girls must be chosen as attendants, escorts must be chosen and a pep assembly must be planned. A lot of work is involved."

Making a Difference

"To involve members in developing leadership, brotherhood, equality and service, while increasing an awareness of oneself and the world," is the Tri-Hi-Y organization's motto and purpose. This is the goal of every Tri-Hi-Y or Hi-Y club.

Tri-Hi-Y members participate in many activities throughout the year to help solve school or community problems, and members learn skills that help them to be good helpers and leaders in their school.

Tri-Hi-Y members are very busy with club activities. Nine members attended Fall Conference at Jackson's Mill in November, where they learned how to organize the club. One of the members who attended Fall Conference, Sophomore Alison Steele says,"Fall Conference was a blast. People there had totally great and different attitudes about helping others."

Six members attended Youth and Government in April, where members from Hi-Y clubs throughout West Virginia participated in a model legislature at the state capital. Senior Alissa Pullen states, "We learned how to work with bills, amend them, pass them, among other things. We were treated as reponsible adults."The club also went to New York City in April on their Tri-Hi-Y trip.

Third row: Tina Westfall, Kathy Yancey, Alice Basham, Andrea Willey, President Courtney Davis, Alissa Pullen, Shelly Newton, and Heather Graham.

Club members participated in fund-raising activities such as car washes, bake sales and the Most Loved Bobcat competition. Members attended regular meetings, attended area churches as a group once a month, and participated in Tri-Hi-Y week in March.

As community service projects, the club picked up trash for Adopt-a-Highway and helped with Hinton Area Elementary's Halloween Party. Members also prepared the Teacher Appreciation Luncheon on May 24.

Tri-Hi-Y also sponsored the Christmas Dance, the Halloween Dance, the Homecoming Court Float, and the Miss Bobcat competition and dance.

The driving force behind student action...

Student Council leads the way

"Student Council was the driving force behind student action taken in search of a fair vote," states Student Body President Jason Gill, referring to the Student Council's involvement in the battle over the changing of the colors and mascot.

The Student Council, comprised of two senators from each grade and homeroom representatives from each homeroom, met monthly on school time, and occasionally held extra meetings.

The Student Council conducted various polls in which students were asked to vote on color and mascot changes. Members, along with class officers and the Talcott Student Council, were also asked to choose and then narrow down color combinations and mascot choices, before students were allowed to vote freely on the colors of their choice.

President Jason Gill says the whole school colors and mascot controversy was definitely something he was not expecting when he decided to run for president. He comments on the need for a helpful vice president by saying, "Student Body Vice President Tony Michael was as involved as myself, but received little of the exposure or credit."

The Student Council made a big step in defending students' rights. Gill states, "Let it suffice to say that everything happens for a reason."

The "Key" to success

The Key Club participated in many school and community service projects, as well as activities in which members learned the skills to be good helpers and better themselves as people.

The club sponsored the Sweetheart Dance, in which Vice President Jennifer Szilvasi was selected as the Key Club Sweetheart. The club also sponsored the Snow Queen competition and participated in Adopt-A-Highway.

Sara Fitzsimmons, Lisa Rutherford, Yetta Lilly, and Jennifer Szilavsi attended a Key Club exchange in October at Elkins High School. Members participated in the District Convention in April, and Laura Dotson and Jennifer Szilvasi attended the International Key Club Convention in Toronto, Canada over last summer.

Funds were raised by holding car washes and spaghetti dinners, among other activities. Sophomore representative Sara Fitzsimmons comments, "The club accomplished a lot during the year, and had fun while doing it."

Cleaning up our little world

The Ecology Club participated in many projects to beautify our community and school. The club cleaned a two mile stretch of the Greenbrier River as part of the county wide "Clean the Green" project. They used canoes as "trash barges", and walked through the river collecting litter, tires, old barrels, car parts, and rusty lawn furniture. They collected about 5,000 pounds of trash, which was recycled or landfilled by the Solid Waste Authority.

Along with the Solid Waste Authority and the county prisoners release program, the Ecology Club cleaned a massive illegal dump on the Laurel Creek Road. They removed 10,920 pounds of refuse from a steep hillside and about 5,900 pounds of metal was recycled.

The club raised money to buy three large red maple trees, which they planted on the fourth avenue side of the school as part of the School Beautification Program.

Members also paricipated in text book recycling, aluminum recycling, the Loaves and Fishes Holiday Dinner and the Loaves and Fishes Garden Plant Distribution.

What current event has interested you or changed your life in some way?

"The World Trade Center bombing was so close to home that it was frightening. Although it was probably aimed to hinder the world economy, it became a threat to our own security."
Alissa Pullen, senior

"The blizzard of '93 was the first time I'd really been in a great amount of snow. It showed how people can pull together under adverse conditions and not to mention it got me out of school for a week."
Shane Hutchison, junior

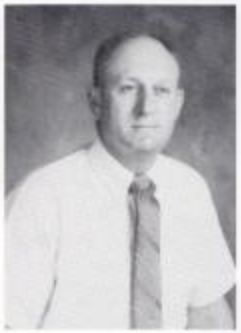
"The turmoil in Bosnia made me realize how our nation can come together and how helpful we can be."
Robert Bowling, 8th

"The orange and black issue really made me realize that the people of this community would rather fight for colors than the education of the students."
Tonya Michael, junior

Where do you think you'll be in ten years?

"I will work in an office in a skyscraper with windows all around. I will own the whole floor and have a gorgeous male secretary."
Shelly Newton, sophomore

"The way I'm going, I'll either be in jail or in the funny farm!"
Sheri Sims, junior



"I'll be a Green Sulphur farmer putting up hay."
James Withrow, assistant principal

"I'll be at Marshall University with my fiancé who will be rich."
Staci Mills, freshman

Need a helping Hand?

Natural Helpers, a community and school service organization, has been in existence since late March 1992. Students willing to be Natural Helpers are trained to be good listeners and advisors to others.

Together, 31 students help younger students in our community and visit nursing homes. They are special friends and tutors in our school. Coordinator of the Natural Helpers Program, guidance counselor, Mr. John Kelley says, "Natural Helpers must be willing to accept their role and to keep all information confidential. They must be willing to help others and be a good listener."

Golden Horseshoe Winners

Three eighth grade students in Mr. Pack's West Virginia History class became Knights and Ladies of the Golden Horseshoe on May 7 at the state capital.

Working together is what it's all about!

Working together on a project isn't always easy. Much hard work and planning goes into making the finished product perfect, or close to it at least. Homecoming floats are no exception.

Materials must be gathered, phone calls must be made, forms must be filled out, and committees must be formed. Then, of course, there are always last minute errands that must be run. Shannon Richman, tenth grade float committee member says, "With all the preparation you can't get anything accomplished without cooperation."

There are always those unexpected things that happen, too. Tonya Michael, eleventh grade float committee member states, "When we were working on the float it was harder than heck to get all the paper twisted into the chicken wire."

"However, in the end everything pays off," stated sophomore Andrea Crook.

Sweetheart Szilvasi selected at Key Club Valentine's Dance

On February 12, Key Club sponsored a dance and selected a Ms. Valentine Queen. The nominations made by the members of Key Club were Queen Jennifer Szilvasi, senior attendant Jeannie Underwood, senior attendant Shelly Young, junior attendant Barbara Mills, sophomore attendant Sara Fitzsimmons and freshman attendant Regina Keys. Jennifer says, "It was rather exciting especially since I had never been chosen for anything like that before. I was very happy to know that my peers had chosen me to represent our club. It gives a person a good feeling to know that people are thinking of them."

Bennett honored as Snow Queen

On December 13, Snow Queen Cynthia Bennett and her attendants were honored in the annual Christmas Parade in downtown Hinton. Key Club selections as princesses were junior attendant Stella Harvey, sophomore attendant Lori Shafer, freshman attendant Mika Meadows, eighth grade attendant Krista Goins, and seventh grade attendant Tiffany Burroughs.

"I was very excited and surprised because I didn't expect it. I would like to thank everyone who voted for me," stated Cynthia.

Prom '93 Puttin' on the Ritz

The junior class spent plenty of time puttin' on "Puttin' on the Ritz", for an extravagant prom '93. The class raised over 3,000 dollars to put on the event. Between 20 and 25 juniors worked from 5 until 10 o'clock for two nights and one day from 7 until 2 o'clock.

Junior class president Shane Hutchison says,"As we were looking through the book for a package, we saw the Puttin on the Ritz' package. We liked the theme, so we rolled with it."

Shane says,"We had all the wallpaper up on the first day, but when we came back it had all fallen down." Juniors decided to choose a prom princess and prince and the DJ gave out prizes such as tapes, CD's, posters, and shirts to students picked from a list.

Hutchison states," All of the hard work by the juniors was worth it. Once you saw the finished product, it almost brought a tear to your eye."

Spring Dance '93: Puttin' on the Ritz II

Junior high students received a sampling of the Junior-Senior High Prom at their own Spring Dance, which was held the night after the prom. The same theme,"Puttin' on the Ritz", and decorations were used. However, the Spring Dance was different in that the court was made up of one attendant from grades 7-10. About 225 students attended the Spring Dance and voted on an attendant from each grade, as well as a queen.

Food was served by the Career Center and was similar to that at the prom. Some decorations were hung up again by the junior high sponsors, everything was spruced up from the night before, and the junior high Spring Dance was ready to "Put on the Ritz."

Left: Brian Eerenberg and Stacy Martin stand under the archway made of balloons and papier maché roses. The roses were made by inmates at the Federal Prison Camp in Alderson. Junior Kim Spade's mother enlisted their help. "We really needed their help because we were pressed for time,"said prom committee member Tonya Michael.

Hamlet visits Hinton

Above: Laertes and Hamlet draw swords on each other over the death of Laertes' father at the hands of Hamlet. In the reenactment of Hamlet, guns and military uniforms were used, because Theatre West Virginia wanted the play to be more relative to junior high and high school students.

Displays show differences in lifestyles

Above: Junior Andrea Willey observes the pictures and objects Kessler brought back from Guatemala and Nicaragua. She comments,"It was nice to have something differnet and the displays were indescribable."

Left: Jeffrey Kessler points to a colorful piece of clothing and explains that it is a dress that a Nicaraguan woman wore.

Displays showing a different lifestyle and culture than that of our own surprised students in history classes around the school on May 19. Jeffrey Kessler, from Green Sulpher Springs, brought exhibits as well as memories from Guatemala and Nicaragua to Mr. Crowder's classroom, and students witnessed an entirely different world.

Kessler, from "Our Neighbors Other Americans" has visited the two Central American countries off and on for the past eight years. Locally the Ground Works Nursery provided the funding to have Kessler come here. In some cases, Kessler was able to tell about the people in the pictures and gave different prospectives on the areas and the culture rather than what a book would reveal.

Junior Angie Ritch says,"Since he had visited the countries, the way he described them made me feel like I was there. The pictures showed a lot of expression and the presentation really impressed me."

College Chorale performs for choir and band members

The College Chorale of West Virginia University at Parkersburg, directed by H.G. Young III, performed for band and choir classes on Tuesday, May 11 .

The chorale performed such numbers as "For the Beauty of the Earth", "The Promised Land", and "Tender Love." Band member Susan Adkins says,"The style was very different. The last song was the best because we all got up and sang "In Dat Great Gettin' Up Mornin'."

Left: Conductor H.G. Young III plays the piano to one of the songs sung by the chorale. Band member Dawn Katz says,"The concert was an unexpected experience, full of laughs instead of a lot of seriousness, and it made us want to pay attention."

"Those who can create..."

And the drama class created a winner with Phantom of the Opr'y

The annual performance of the drama department's musical production was held on April 22-23. The auditorium was transformed into the Skunk Creek Opr'y House, which was haunted by a phantom who delights in scaring people.

The play was a country version of a melodrama with music based on the famous mystery, The Phantom of the Opera. Phantom of the Opr'y was produced by special arrangement with Contemporary Drama Service sponsored by Sister Joan Marie Coleman and director Melanie Lamb from the Concord College Theater Department.

Tiffany Lilly, who played Christine Swansong, the romantic lead, along with her heroic soldier, Farleigh Good, played by Nathan Eerenberg, were two colorful characters who added to the confusion of the two act farce. Humorous characters such as Carlotta Barracuda, portrayed by Sheri Sims, Junior Hamster, played by Joseph Richmond, and Silky Acidtongue, played by Jessica Martin, kept the audience on their toes with many puns and crazy action. Together the crews, director, sponsors, and actors made the production a success!

Right: Erik, the Phantom of the Opr'y (David Rodes), flares his cape as he lets everyone know "...he enjoys being a ghoul."

Harmonic sounds of friendship

When most people think of a best friend, they think of trust, loyalty, a helping hand, and a shoulder to cry on. They also are reminded of fun times and trying times.

A true best friend will always be around to talk to or goof around with. A person should not have to worry about their friend stabbing them in the back, and should always be assured that their friend can be counted on.

Memories of high school will always include people who stick in your mind, whether they be teachers or famous, influencial people, but a best friend will remain in your heart forever.

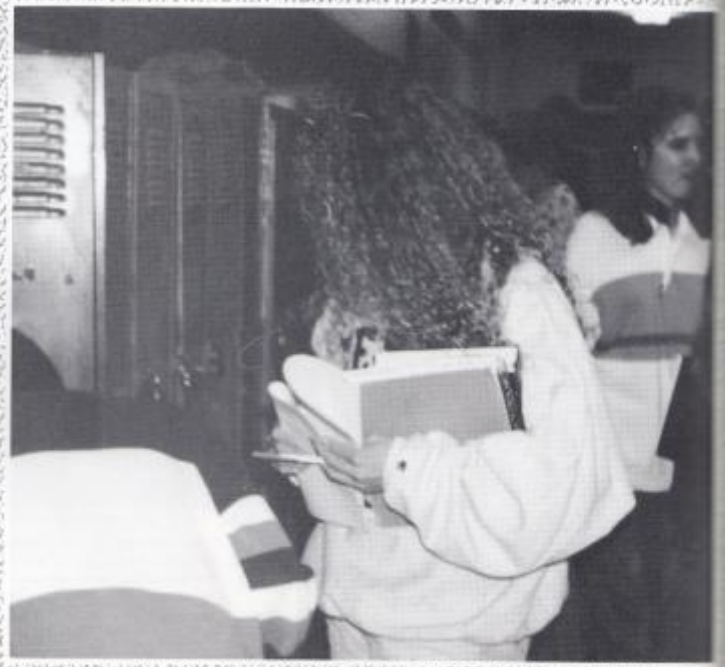
The third floor hall has been the center for the Senior class for many years. It is where they spend the last year of their high school career. By these lockers, Seniors share the making of good and bad memories before they go out into the world. They can look back on the harmony and discord in this hall and remember our high school



Right: Seniors Lori Willey and Marshall Meador enjoy each others company during the Senior Follies. This years senior class is very close. Another senior, Billy Burcham said that he thinks the senior class this year has a closer bond than any other class he's seen.

Below: Although this years senior class is very closely knit, they do sometimes have their disagreements. It is sometimes difficult for the 46 Senior Policy Committee members to agree on what is best for the entire senior class. Miss Keller, the S.P.C. adviser, looks on as Rosalie Mikles and Tina Westfall argue a point with the senior class president.

Rated X

This year's evening performance of the Senior Follies was cancelled because of the controversy that arose from the morning performance. There were complaints that the show was too vulgar and stepped over the boundary of good taste.

Most students were upset that the Follies were cancelled and disagreed with the comments made by the teachers.

"I thought they were disgusting," said Ms. Hutchison.

"I thought they were the best that I had seen. That stuff goes on in everyday life–I didn't see anything wrong with it," said sophomore Andrea Crook.

"I thought they were extremely good because we talk more openly about sex now," added junior Tonya Michael.

Going to the chapel...

" Going to the chapel and we're gonna get married..." These senior girls seem to have taken this song to heart. Considering that our state has the highest teenage pregnancy rate in the nation perhaps it isn't surprising that there are a large number of teenage marriages and engagements in our class.

"I don't think that being engaged during my senior year in high school has made me miss out on anything because I am the type of person who knows what I want, and that is Jason," explained Erin Eerenberg.

As well as the pressures of filling out college applications, financial aid forms, and taking SATs, these girls have the added stress of planning a wedding. With the 50% divorce rate in this country, these girls need all the luck they can get.

"Planning a wedding is the most nerve-racking thing I have ever done in my life! Since I've started making the arrangements I haven't had a complete night's sleep, I toss and turn trying to make sure I didn't forget anything." commented Sheri Haskins.

The Adult Roles class taught by Mrs. Spicer, is to prepare our students for events like this. Each year they have a mock wedding.

In November, 1992 Kathy Yancey married Russell Ward. After high school Kathy plans to work, go to college, and have a baby.

Donna Spieden and Jamey Stone will be married on June 19, 1993. The couple will reside in Va. where Donna will attend college.

Kim Howell and her fiance, Robert Youther, plan to wed at Mountain Lake, Va. on September 18, 1993.

Sheri Haskins will marry Tony Fullen on July 17, 1993 and the two will live in Roanoke, Va.

Uncle Sam Wants You!!!

Most students spend their summer vacations by the pool or at the ocean, Kelly Lester and Chad Clayton spent their summer at Ft. Jackson, South Carolina In Basic Training.

After the completion of their training in the summer they came back home to finish their last year of high school before they get their orders.

Kelly goes to Charleston one weekend a month and works as the clerk typist in the mobilization unit. This will be Kelly's job after she finishes her training and gets security clearance.

After graduation Chad will be sent to Aberdeen, Maryland for Advanced Individual Training.

"During a night infiltration course I put a stretch factor in my ankle," Kelly said. "If you treat a stretch factor immediately it will heal quickly, but I waited two weeks before having it looked at, so this caused my ankle to break in two from the pressure put on it."

Never Far Apart

If you see one exchange student walking down the hall you will most likely see the other. Since they came to America the two have become somewhat inseparable. "We spend the weekends together going to the mall, the movies, and staying at each other's host home," says Myrtil Tordova, Slavic Exchange Student.

They share the same feelings about America and their new school. "I think that Hinton is boring, it is different from back home because there are no discos. At home we can drink and smoke; here we cannot," states Tatiana Vera, Spanish Exchange Student.

Another thing the two girls have in common is their opinions about American food. "I think that the food here is too fattening! We have both gotten too fat." said Tatiana. "My father said if I didn't lose this weight I would not be allowed to go home." Myrtil commented. "I will have to get an apartment or something!"

Senior Trip 1993

The 46 member crew from Hinton High School stayed at Wilson World during their three day trip.

Chaperones Susan Lawrence and and Terri Kirkham soak up sun during the first stop of the trip–Daytona Beach.

Many students remarked afterwards that Grad-Night was over-hyped and not as much fun as the rest of the trip. "I liked it, I thought it was fun. But I didn't like the fact that we had to dress up. I was especially glad to meet Pluto, though I wanted to meet Mickey Mouse," says Jennifer Szilvasi of the night at Disney World.

Alfonso Leftwich, Marshall Meador and Mark Fleshman take advantage of the playhouse at McDonald's in Daytona Beach, despite warnings from the restaurant's personell.

Grad Night at Disney World

Before going to the Grad-Night party on Friday night, the seniors cruised the night clubs of Pleasure Island. As Alissa Pullen remarked, "The Pleasure Island Blast-Off experience was incredible. Our guide for the evening literally danced us to our first club where we heartily enjoyed a great buffet. From there we bounced off to Mannequins, a psychedelic nightclub where we danced and mingled for hours on a huge rotating dance floor with lights flashing everywhere. As soon as I walked off the island I was ready to go back."

"Do you love me, now that I can't dance?" Joey Hartwell was one of the many seniors who spent a good deal of time in Mannequins, on Pleasure Island.

Matt Rodes grabs an unoccupied wheelchair when he got tired of walking around Universal Studios on Saturday.

"Back to the Future was definitely the best ride at Universal," says Erin Eerenberg. "It felt like we were really in the movie."

The Most Memorable Moments

Memorable Moments Seniors Tell All

"When I walk down the hall, Coach Richmond waits until I get to the end and yells at me. When I go back to his room he asks me if I watch' Soul Train'," said Aaron Ward.

Jamie Goins added that his favorite memory of HHS is," The day I got my first dunk in the Big Gym."

"My Sophomore year was the most memorable for me. Especially when I went out for the football team," said Kelly Lester.

"Definitely the most memorable thing for me was my Junior year when I took a dare that I couldn't back down from. I drove my Jeep up the steps between the band room and new wing. Everything went fine until my front wheels crossed the top step and the skid plate drug. I went flying off the steps in reverse as my horn blew on its own," said Eric Mann.

Erin Eerenberg feels that the thing she'll never forget was,"When I played basketball my 9th grade year. I had a chance to shoot four free throws, and didn't make any of them. I didn't score all year."

More Memorable Moments

"I'll never forget when Danny Lilly passed out for Mrs. Falkner," said Gena Lilly.

Joann Ward added,"My Senior year would have to be the most memorable for me. My relationship with Mikey Harshaw and all the looks I got will be with me forever."

"Meeting Charlie Lilly, my future husband, would have to be the most memorable for me,"said Heather Graham.

"I will never forget when someone asked me if we had T.V. in Spain," stated Tatieana Vera.

"When I was in the 9th grade in Mrs. Davis' class one day Patrick Keaton had a box of donuts and was licking the icing from the box. Matt Rodes drew her attention to the event, and Mrs. Davis laughed so hard she began to cry. She ran from the room and didn't return for quite some time," said Joey Hartwell.

Left: Dr. Curry awaits his turn to speak. He told seniors that they could achieve any goal if they believed in themselves.

Second floor hall, the seventh and eighth grade floor, bustles every day with underclassmen. The change from elementary school to high school is a big one, one which can have its pros and its cons. Those hallowed halls of second floor often echo the adjustment for these students. This section will show those things, both harmonious and discordant, which the underclass must deal with now that they are at the high school.

Juniors Harmonize

Chris Coughenour, just one of the Juniors that performed in the Junior Follies, showed off his musical talent. He has been playing the banjo since he was 14 years old. Chris practices every day. He was taught to play by his brother-in-law, Eugene Jones. The first song that he learned to play was "Cripple Creek." Chris has played at many public events such as one in Celenese, Virginia, the Mining Acedemy in Beckley, Junior Follies, and family reunions. Brian Bremer said," He's one of the best I've ever heard, besides his teacher."

Below: Michael Yancey portrays Lu Lu from the T.V. show, Hee Haw.

Right: Dawn Katz says, " My mom embarrasses me when she tells my friends things about my childhood."

Embarrassed?

Parents often unintentionally embarrass their kids. Several sophomores recall favorite incidents they could die over.

"My mom embarrasses me when company comes over by telling them stories about me," said Wendy Hinerman.

Left: Shannon Richman said she hates it when," My mom waites till she gets in front of the whole world to call me 'Shanie,' just like I'm a four year old again." Cheryl Cooper added " My mom butts in on my phone conversations all the time. She's always saying You got five more minutes. That embarrasses me to death."

Country to Country

Freshman, Anne Bryant has traveled to three different countries: Mexico, Canada, and Bermuda.

She said," Mexico has lots of poor people, and we could not eat the food there because it was unsanitary. Canada was just like home. I visited the world's largest mall, and saw Niagra Falls. Bermuda was my favorite. It was very hot and there was pink sand. They get their drinking water from the roof when it rains, and they drive on the opposite side of the road. I enjoy traveling."

Pizza and Pepsi are favorites

What's Hottest

A Survey of the 7th and 8th graders revealed these favorites. This survey was compiled by the Journalism III class in late March and early April.

Rachel Eskridge and Kim Vandall make a meal out of Pepsi and pizza. The top two favorites of the 7th and 8th graders.

What's Hotter

Far left: Tom Sears does Mt. Dew, one favorite drink of this years 7th and 8th grade classes, during his lunch.

Left: This is just what the doctor ordered for Benji Bragg, who is drinking the second place winner among 7th and 8th grade students.

Opinions on Free day Vary

This year a new program was set up for the 7th and 8th grade students. It's a program that entitles kids to a day off if they behave in a well mannered way. Playing by the rules may them a chance to go on a field trip or a fun day during school. They have done an egg hunt, relays, a trip City Side Track, and they watched Huck Finn at the Ritz Theater where many students seemed to be have fun but, in their opinion, they didn't. " They present the awards like they're something special but no one really cares if their on the list to go or not. They should do stuff to help our education. Like going to a museum or something," stated Yarrow Levine.

Aove: Doug Long and David Cales rest after the walk down to the CIty Side Track for their Free day.

Above: One of the most intense moments is when the 7th and 8th graders wait for the announcing of a winner.

Above:" Teachers didn't really keep record of it at first, some of the students didn't get to go that should've," Sherri Greene.

Where do 7th and 8th graders have fun?

In the gym

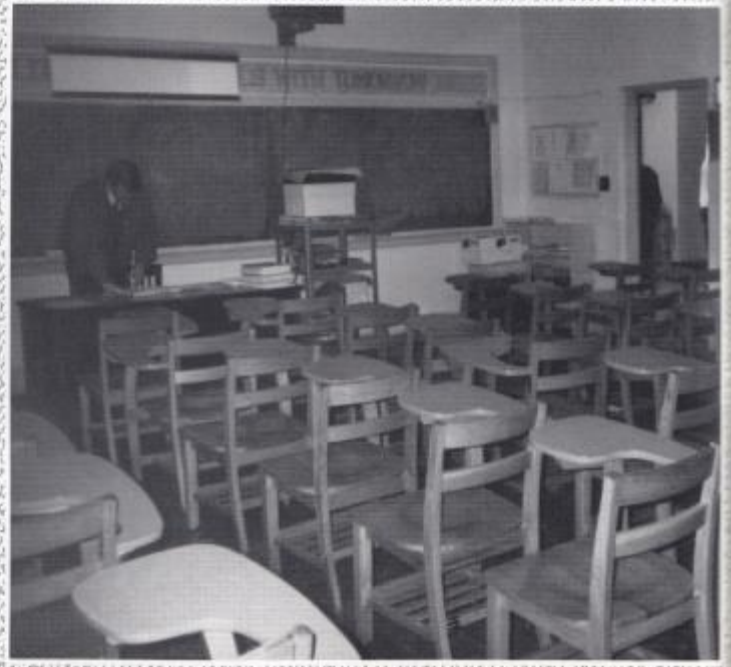
Academic Editors
Shannon Richmond
Courtney Leslie

Students spend nearly 90% of their school day in a classroom. These classes contain the disappointment of forgotten homework and the joy of a good test grade.



Right: Part of a teacher's job is to help the students. Mrs. Davis contributes to academic harmony just as most teachers by giving individual instruction to those who need it.

Below: Although the Faculty Senate does not always agree on opinions, they are there to decide what is best for the students. Often it is through their disagreement that they come up with the best solutions.

Faculty Senate Promotes Unity

Faculty senate holds a great deal of responsibility for supplying unity in our school as well as teaching what we need to learn. They have taken many things to the board this year to help with the education for our students. They have had changed report card days so they have more time to do Cats Club and Honor Roll. They also selected three teachers to compete for the honor of being teacher of the year. They were Mrs. Debbie Clark, Mrs. Betty Jo Williams, and Mr. Roger Persinger. Of these three teachers Mr. Persinger won the honor to represent our school in the fall of 1993.

Teachers also recieve $200 each year to futher the education and to buy more supplies and materials for their classroom. Mrs. Bulter(typing teacher) uses her money to buy typing material and correctional tape, while Mrs. Boone(Aerobics and Driver's Ed teacher) uses her money to purchase Aerobic tapes. As you can imagine Coach Hughes and Coach Richmond spend thier money on new equipment for the weight room and Mrs. Meador (Journalism I and II) is saving her money to purchase a 35mm camera for the yearbook staff.

Once upon A Time...

In a far away place there was a teacher named Mrs. Jones. One day she assigned her students the task of dressing up as a fairy tale character. As the week progressed princesses, elves, and kings were seen going through the halls. Each day different students expressed in detail their lives as the character. Rochelle Richmond portrayed Puss, in the fairy tale "Puss in Boots." "It was a very original, entertaining assignment," she chuckled. An old farm dress with a pinnafore and pigtails help characterize Beth Elmore as Gretel in the fairy tale "Hanzel and Gretel." "It was an experience that let my imagination travel back to my childhood," she commented. As the week came to an end and reality back in check they all lived happily ever after.

Right: Shelly Newton dressed as a farmers wife in the story "Gudbrand-on-the-hillside." "It was a very interesting project that I feel the whole class enjoyed," she replied.

Below: Jenny Woodrum dressed as a princess from the story "Goose Girl" stands at the front of the class to give the oral presentation of her story.

Above: Monica Virts as the man in "The Crystal Ball" and Thad Martin as the fisherman in "The Fisherman and His Wife." "It was very embarrassing but it taught a good lesson and was very education."

Right: Rochelle Richmond dressed as "Puss" in Puss in Boots, Jennifer Smith as a princess in "The Princess and the Well" and Shannon Richman as an angel in "The Angel"show off their creative costumes after giving their speech.

Women's Club Presentied Honor Society Members with Etiquette Lessons

The Hinton Women's Club held a luncheon at the end of April for the Honor Society members and advisers. It was held at the First Baptist Church and was based on etiquette. It was placed as a court trial with the President of the club dressed as a judge, in a robe and carried a mallot, addressed the guests as criminals.

They were taught the proper use of silverware and manners when eating out at a formal meal . They were also told and taught how to set a table for a tea and everything they should have when having one.

Mock Accident Opens Students Eyes

T.A.D.D. (Teenagers against drugs and drinking) sponsored a mock accident at the Summers County Athletic Facility a few days prior to the prom. The purpose of the mock accident was to increase the students awareness of the consequences of drinking and driving. "It was fun to get out of class but hopefully it served its purpose and saved some peoples lives," replied Shane Hutchison. "It was good to demonstrate the bad effects of drinking and driving," stated Matt Rodes.

Franklin shares his thoughts about H.H.S.

Did any of you notice the male student teacher walking down the halls second semester, yes we all did. Mr. Leon Franklin grew up in Stuarts Draft , Virgina, and attended Stuarts Draft High School. He decided to become a teacher because he enjoyed his high school career and loves the kids and atmosphere at the high school level. He is planning to specialize in Social Studies/History and would love to coach football, baseball, or basketball. "I believe H.H.S. has a very outstanding faculty. The teachers are very knowledgable, caring, and interested in helping the students succeed in life," stated Franklin. " The students for the most part are great people. I developed friendships with many and I will cherish them. The students are very friendly and definetly active. I wish you all the very best," replied Franklin. Regretably, Mr. Franklin will be returning to Virginia to teach. "My first day was cancelled because of a chemical spill. I wasn't sure I wanted to teach at a place that had chemical spills, but I'm glad I did,"exclaimed Mr. Franklin.

Pictured are Jessica Bishop, Jason Gill, Patrick Keaton, Clayton Scott, Jenny Woodrum Cheryl Cooper, Joey Hartwell, and Heather Graham. They solved problems similar to those engineers would solve in every day work. They received first place in their division. They also scored higher than any other schools participating. The students were selected from Calculus I and II, Analysis, and Algebra II.

Debate Team

In April the Debate team went to Bluefield State College for a two day debate on countries part of the United Nations. In charge of the debate were students that were enrolled at Bluefield State. Also people from Washington D.C. came to listen to the debate. Joey Hartwell was awarded the Honorable Delegate trophy. He was the only one from Hinton presented with this honor. "I really enjoyed going to the debate. I met a lot of interesting people and learned things about the other countries," stated Beth Farley. "It was an excellent learning experience, I hope to do it again,"replied freshman Courtney Davis.

Tri-Hi-Y

In the late evening of April 5, Tri-Hi-Y voyaged off on their adventure to the Big Apple. New York was chosen as this years Tri-Hi-Y field trip. The trip included touring the Staue of Liberty and the Empire State Building. Also eating at places such as Planet Hoollywood, Hard Rock Cafe and China Peace. Shopping was another extravagansa at places including Macy's, Tiffany's,Gucci, and Godiva Chocholates. We also attended the Radio City Music Hall Easter Show which included watching the Rockettes.

Band

On April 1, the marching band departed for their trip to Universal Studios. The band participated in a march through and around Universal Studios. They also spent a day at Daytona Beach, later that evening they went to the Arabian Knights, a restaurant where they saw a horse show. They also toured the J.F.K. Space Center and Disney World. Eating at the Hard Rock Cafe was another hightlight of the trip. "It was a lot of fun and I would love to go back," replied Lori Cook.

Disappointed Cats

Better luck next year is a phrase said to many football players after their 0-10 record. "The talent was there, but we just couldn't seem to get things going straight," commented senior linebacker Matt Rodes. "Even though their record was 0-10, they showed great enthusiasm and acted like state champs throughout the whole season," said sophomore fan, Cheryl Cooper.

"My best game," commented Jason Pack, freshman quarterback, "would have to be against Van. We played great in the begining of the first half, and were even ahead. I had nine tackles, an interception, a fumble recovery, an assist on a fumble, and then we lost with three minutes left on a trick play."

As for Head Coach Buzzy Richmond, he feels that this had to be the most frustrating season in all of his 20 years of coaching.

Frustrated linebacker, Matt Rodes watches as Peterstown scores again in their 8-46 Bobcat defeat. Matt was awarded first team All-State.

BAND

PLAYING A HIGH NOTE

The fight song is a very famous song played by the band at least 300 times a year.

This year the band not only played the fight song at football and basketball games, they also traveled to Florida to play in a parade. "I'm very proud of this year's band. Most of the members are young and have a lot of potential," says Rebecca Green, the band teacher.

Not only is Mrs. Green proud of her students, but her students are proud of her. "She has taught me so much. I hope someday I can be a great instructor like her," says freshman saxophonist Tonya Allen.

With support from the teacher and cooperation from the students, the band should excel for years to come.

GOLF

Up to par

The Hinton High Bobcat golf team ended its 1992 campaign with a 23 and 11 record. The Bobcats winning record ended however with a 12 stoke defeat in the WVSSAC Region VII tournament by Oceana. The Cats were led in the regionals by junior Johnny Dillon, who fired an 83, earning him a spot on the All-Regional team as one of the top five scores at the tournament. He was followed by Mark Fleshman and J.W. Ward who each shot 86.

During the regular season, Hinton was led by Ward who had an average of 82. When asked about the season as a whole, J.W. commented, "Our loss in the regionals was bad. during the season, and we were the better team."

Junior Billy Rhodes, who had a season average of 85, was also disappointed with the teams season performance in the tournament. "Last year we played our best golf in October and made it to the State Tournament. We should have gone again this year."

"This season was a slight disappointment, as a team we improved all year match by match. Unfortunately, we didn't play well when we needed to," stated Coach Tom Bumgardner. "Next year we will have a strong young team and will be able to compete for the next two years," he added.

No Room For 2nd

"It was a lot of hard work and a lot of fun, and as you can see, we got the job done," stated junior center, Jenny Mann.

1992 marked the fifth year in a row that the girls varsity basketball team went to the state tournament. However it was only the second time since 1988 that they won the state championship. They finished the year with a record of 21 wins, four losses. "The biggest reason we were successful was the willingness of our girls to accept their role on our team, stated Head Coach Ron Williams. Cats Declawed

Without dominating height in the post or guards with varsity experience, Hinton played out a disappointing 5-18 season that ended with a first round loss at the hands of defending State AA champs Greenbrier West in the sectional tournament.

"We were a very young team, we made many mistakes, but next year we should have the experience to be competitive," stated junior Mike Harshaw.

The season was a successful one though for the Junior Varsity as they finished the year with a 12-7 record. Despite losing two key players half way through the season, forcing them to play with only six players, the 'Cats finished strong to the pleasure of head-coach Wayne Ryan.

"I have a lot of respect for these players. They really overcame a lot of adversity and accepted their role in order to help the team. Everyone contributed, especially since we played the last ten games with only six players."

GO CATS

"We went through a lot of changes this year in cheerleading," stated Head Coach Rebecca Arthur. The varsity cheerleaders attended a summer camp where they won a number of ribbons and a trophy. They also went to Virginia Tech for a cheerleading clinic and they are attending gymnastic class.

All of this hard work had to have paid off, Junior Helen Boone and Senior Kimberly Howell won All - Tournament at the sectional games. "I'm really pleased I got All - Tournament. But it couldn't have happened without all the support from my squad," exclaims Boone.

Boys Track A Step Ahead

The 1993 boys track season proved to be a good one for many of the team members. School records were broken in both the long jump and the shuttle hurdle team. Scott Jackson set the school record in the long jump with a jump of 20 feet, 3 inches. The shuttle hurdle record was set with a time of 61.1 seconds by Matt Rodes, Corey Lambert, Zachary Meador, and Mike Barnes. These same people ran in the state track meet with the edition of the 4x400meter team which includes Johnny Crawford, and John Cooper along with Corey Lambert, and Scott Jackson.

GIRL'S TRACK

Running for the Gold

"Jessica Meadows, Stephanie Meadows, Stacy Turner, and Mika Meadows show how Freshmen can excel when they want it bad enough," stated Head Coach Cathy Boone.

The girl's track team had a fairly good season. They participated in the Coalfield Conference and the Kroger Invitational, and went on to take first place in both events.

As for the season as a whole, Coach Boone feels her girl's had a good season, but should have done better at the regionals.

"Eveyone ran their best on the 4x400 team at the states, and we were very pleased with our time," said Cheryl Cooper. The girl's 4x400 team was ranked 16th in the state, but defeated two teams which earlier had defeated them.

The 1993 baseball season started off with snow, rain, indoor practices and several cancelled games. "The worst thing that could've happened did, and nobody likes practice in the gym," declared sophomore Chad Meador. Not only did the weather halt practice, but it also washed out the teams first seven games.

When the rain finally quit, the team's play mirrored the previous weather, as they had trouble with even the routine plays. "The weather kept us from having good practices, so we were understandably rusty," commented Head Coach Mike Miller.

As the season wore on and the weather began to cooperate, the team raised their level of play and began to compete with any team. Going in to the midseason Coppinger Tournament, the Cats were showing the talent that they posessed.

"Our three seniors played a key role in our turnaround. Their leadership set an example that made the other players better," boasted Miller.

By placing second in the Coppinger, the team started a wave of confidence that carried the Cats into the sectional tournament.

The tournament opened as Hinton rolled over Indepence behind the 3 hit, 6 rbi performance of J.W. Ward. Hinton beat rival Shady Spring twice in three games to earn the sectional crown.

During the state tournament, the teams luck turned back around as they lost to Pineville for the second time this year in a 7-0 game. "It's disappointing to lose now, but no one expected us to go this far either," said senior Mark Fleshman.

SOFTBALL

SECTIONAL CHAMPIONS

The 1993 softball team started their season with heavy rains and cold weather. This cancelled a lot of practices and the first two games.

When they finally started playing, there were several errors due to not having many practices. But as the season continued, the team picked up experience and went on to be Sectional Champions.

Left: First baseman Beth Elmore stretches to try to stop the second baseman's throw during warm ups.

During the regional final the team lost a 7-2 lead because they stopped hitting and weren't able to get things back together. The final score of the game was Pineville 9, us 8.

Head Coach Debbie Wood feels confident about next year's team. "I think we have state championship material only if they want to work hard for it. They need to play as a team like they did in the sectionals, not as individuals."

Left: Head Coach Debbie Wood practices hitting to the field before the sectional tournament. The final score to the sectional game was 18-10.

Weight Lifting

Recently, what used to just be the weight training class has become a weight lifting team with the opportunity to compete. Some have taken advantage of this to create personal recognition. Roger Adkins, Matt Rodes, and Brock Lively have all successfully competed and won awards at these events: Adkins, who competed at the 242 pound division, placed first in the state competition and second in the National Competition. Rodes was the 1992 Coalfield Conference Champion in the 225 pound division. Lively went to the National Power Lifting Finals.

Weight Training

What started as another elective to eliminate study halls, weight training has proven to be much more beneficial. Over the three years of its existence, weight training has helped athletes find time to work out and started others into weight lifting.

"This class was developed with imporving athletics in mind, but it has helped people not involved in athletics find another activity. It has even become a sport of its own for those who have been competing in the powerlifting events," comments instructor Bill Hughes.

Each year weight training takes a stop to improve, and next year should be no different. Plans are to try to add a weigh training III with competition lifting in mind.

Jr. High Football

Breaking Through

Despite returning only 3 letterman, the Hinton Jr. High Bobcats turned a successful 5-3 season high-lighted by the teams hustle and teamwork. Although freshman co-captain Scott Jackson scored 90 of the teams 170 points, head coach Ron Lilly was pleased with the teams overall play. "This was a young team, but it was a winner because of its unity and its willingness to put the 'team' ahead of personal accomplishments," he stated.

"Since we were such a young team, the season was a pleasant surprise," he continued. "We played better as the season went on, and finished strong with an 18-0 win over previously undefeated Peterstown."

Hinton's defense, led by co-captain Tony Romanello, who was the teams leading tackler, allowed only 14 points in the teams 5 victories. That is impressive since in the teams 3 losses, a total of 90 points were allowed.

Coach Lilly was very positive as he looked toward next year. "We will only be returning a few starters, but we will be predominately a freshman team, so I expect to be competitve," he stated.

Winning

The 1992 Hinton Junior High Lady Bobcats were runners-up during the Summers and Monroe County Pizza Hut Classic Championship. The Hinton Jr. High program including the 7th and 8th grade combined for a 43-5 record this season. Over the past five seasons, Jr. High Lady Cats have compiled a 108-10 record, while their program including 7th and 8th grade squads has won 217 and lost only 19.

The 7th and 8th grade Lady Bobcats combined for a 27-1 record and captured the championship of the Hinton Invitational Post Season Tournament.

JR. HIGH HOOPS

The boys junior high basketball team finished the season energetic and excited.

"Peterstown was our best game. We lost by five, but they have a superior team. They have rolled over their oppponents by 20 and 30 points a game. If we would have played Meadowbridge and Athens as well, we would have won those games," said Head Coach Jerry Meadows.

"This year wasn't a bad one, but next year we'll be a lot tougher," added Coach Meadows.

Harmony and Discord 1993

The 1992-1993 year has been full of harmony and discord. Despite the controversy surrounding a new president and our orange and black tradition, the students are united in the joy of having a better future in a new school, the hope of having a more powerful student body, and the thrill of being state champs once again.

Below: Teresa Wood and photographer Angie Ritch work on a layout while waiting for their turn on the computer.

Far Right: Editors Anna Ziegler and Rosalie Milkos supervise the group pictures, one of the many duties involved in being editors.

Right: Senior editor Lori Willey carefully works out the details of one the senior class pages. She and Courtney Davis had the difficult task of recording the events of the year for the senior's final memories.

Above: Some of the staff of the 1993 Dart work on the computer to meet deadlines while still others take pictures, conduct interviews, and do surveys.

Colophon

The 1993 Dart was produced by Journalism I, II, and III students at Hinton High School, Hinton, West Virginia 25951.

Computer Software: Word Processing: Microsoft Word 3.0. Page Makeup: Aldus Pagemaker 4.0.

Type Information: Body copy is set in 10 pt. Captions are set in 8 pt. All copy is set in Times.

Photo Information: All candid photos were taken by Fox Photographics, Journalism and other students at Hinton High and their families. Underclass photos were taken by Cardinal Photographics, Lewisburg, WV. Senior portraits were taken by Fox Photographics.
