

Hinton High School

The Dart 1950 - 1959

The Dart resumed the full Yearbook format similar to the early 1940s. It was published every year with the exception of 1953.

Due to the HHS fire of 1952, all of the photos and records that had been gathered in preparation for publishing were destroyed by the fire. Dodd Photo Store of Hinton took Senior Class photos and printed three pages of class photos with names of the Seniors.

Hinton High School Fire of 1952

Account of the fire By Fred Long

The night air was bitterly cold, and the freezing wind off New River made it an unpleasant night for the young Marine that was trying to thumb a ride to his home in the West End of town. He was stranded on Temple Street waiting for a ride, but it was nearly 5:00 A.M. and the streets were deserted. The wind made it feel much colder than its actual thirty-five degrees, and he had been standing on the corner stamping his feet and blowing into his hands longer than he wanted. Frustrated, he turned his coat collar up and started walking, the wind at his back. When he reached the old bank building at the corner of 3rd Avenue he noticed a light in one of the upper floor windows. It was the telephone office and for a minute he thought about going inside just to get warm. But he figured the only way he was going to get home was to keep walking and maybe someone would come along to give him a ride.

He walked another block and noticed light coming from the windows of the Hinton High School. He thought that was odd and hurried across the street to get a closer look. It was coming from one of the front upper floor windows. The building was on fire. He immediately turned and ran back to the telephone office, telling the operator the school was on fire. He had seen orange flickering light coming from one of the classrooms. She quickly called the fire department. It was 5:02 A.M., Sunday, December 21, 1952.

Eight minutes later the fire department was on the scene, Fireman James E. Meadows driving the truck. Captain John Lively was with him. Numerous other firemen arrived in their personal vehicles. They hooked to a hydrant and climbed the front steps where the flames were eating away at the interior of the building. Within seconds, they were shooting a heavy stream of water on flames that sweep across the auditorium.

The heat was intense and heavy sheets of plaster fell from the ceiling, crashing to the floor, endangering the brave firefighters that stood their ground. Theodore Sembly and his brother Walter were at the front of the hose directing water on the flames when suddenly they shot through the roof. They could see the flames shooting twelve to eighteen feet into the air. Theodore called to the firemen to vacate the room. They had just begun to back out when a large section of the floor collapsed with a tremendous roar. Within seconds, the entire auditorium was engulfed in flames.

In moving toward the door Walter stumbled on the hose, falling back, his head hitting against the wall. He had knocked himself unconscious. Theodore didn't see him fall and was at the front entrance when he noticed his brother was missing. He turned to look inside and saw his brother prone on the floor just inside the door to the auditorium. The flames were not five feet from him and Theodore rushed back in. He grabbed his brother in his huge hands and threw him over his shoulders. The flames were licking at the wall and at his feet when he carried him from the building and down the concrete steps to safety.

They were giving his brother first aid when an explosion within the building caused the entire structure facing Temple Street to go up in flames. Only the Central school wing was spared. Firemen had already entered that part of the building and were holding the flames back in an effort to save the elementary school that was housed in that section. For almost an hour, in spite of the heat and smoke, they prevented the flames from spreading into that part of the building.

It was several hours before the fire was brought under control and firemen were recalled to the scene several times before it was finally extinguished. The steel columns between the auditorium and the gym, which was underneath, were bent like so much taffy. The interior was completely gutted, but only the rear wall would have to come down. The remaining walls remained stable. On June 11, 1954, the high school building would reopen.

The motto of Future Homemakers of America is to live better today in order that our lives and those of our families may be better tomorrow.

CREED

We are the Future Homemakers of America
We face the future with warm courage,
And high hope,
For we have the clear consciousness of seeking
Old and precious values.

For we are the builders of homes,
Home for America's future,
Homes where living will be the expression of everything
That is good and fair,
Homes where truth and love and security and faith
Will be realities, not dreams.

We are the Future Homemakers of America
We face the future with warm courage
And high hope.

The Student Congress

PUD TURNER	President	MARY ANDERSON	Senate President
DOUG RICHMOND	Speaker of the House	GINA JONES	Secretary and Treasurer
NELLIE CUNDIFF	Advisor

The purpose of the Student Congress is to be the governing body of the school. It is in charge of all the assemblies, elections and major happenings of the school.

This year the congress passed a "Sportsmanship Code" which was put into effect during basketball season.

Delegates sent from Hinton High School to the Southern Association of Student Councils Convention held in Charleston, West Virginia. These Delegates were: Gina Jones, Mary Lee Anderson and Pud Turner.

Also four delegates represented H. H. S. at Jackson's Mills during the West Virginia Association of Student Councils Convention. These representatives were: Patsy Milligan, Jane Ellen Terry, Lester Bennett, and Skippy Kwak.

HISTORY

The Seventeen Club was organized on October 9, 1951. The purpose of the club is to develop character. The sponsor of the club is Mrs. Marilyn Whanger. The colors of the club are maroon and white. There is a pin for the club and it is made in the shape of a pennant. It has a large seven with the word Teen's written through it.
